

COUNTRY PROSPEROUS REGARDLESS OF WAR

Canvass of State of Business Shows
Flourishing Conditions.

Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Oct. 1.—A canvass of the state of business throughout the United States conducted by the World shows that prosperity is present quite independently of the war and the trade that springs from war. To its correspondents in many sections of the country the World sent letters calling for "exact information on the state of business," and asking that these questions be asked of the officers of the largest employer of labor in each community.

"Number of men employed during July, 1916?"

"Number of men employed during July, 1915?"

"What is the amount of the company's July payroll?"

"What was the amount four years ago this July?"

"Is any of the increase due to war orders, and how much?"

"Is the business dependent on the tariff for its success?"

Data from fifteen concerns, now employing 83,627 men, shows that ten of these are not concerned in the war in a business way. Three of them are, and two others indirectly. Of these same firms nine are "dependent on the tariff," six are not.

Four years ago these fifteen concerns employed 60,427 men. The increase of 23,200 in the number of employees represents an increase of 38.5 per cent.

Four years ago the wages paid to these 60,427 employees amounted to $3,694,963 in one month. In the same month of this year the payroll amounted to $5,538,321, an increase of $1,843,358, or 50 per cent.

In other words the wages paid during the four years covering the Wilson administration have increased at a rate nearly double that of the increase in the number of employees.

GOES TO FRIEND
TO LEARN TRUTH
ABOUT STATEMENT

Washington Man Says He Is
Now Glad He Investigated
Dreco Report.

"I had read where a friend of mine had been helped by Dreco, and I went to him and asked about it. For I thought the matter was worth investigating," said Wm. F. Kitter, of 1104 E street southeast, a well-known contractor.

"I had been troubled for a long time with a bad stomach disorder, loss of appetite, gastritis, dizziness, swimming in the head and rheumatism," he continued, "and I wanted to know if this medicine had really done what they said it had. My friend said the piece in the paper was all true, and he bragged on Dreco still more, so I tried it and I'm glad I did."

"I simply had indigestion so bad that I got to where I couldn't eat anything at times, and the rheumatism and dizziness bothered me daily. My food seemed like it wouldn't digest at all, and, in fact, it seemed like my stomach had gone back on me all together. I would fill up with sour gas and feel miserable with pain in my stomach and all over my body, until it was like I was poisoned."

"These troubles pulled me down until I would feel bad from one day's work and the other, and my work was nothing but a drag."

"After I found out about Dreco I lost no time in beginning on it, and it helped me right from the first. I have taken two bottles now, have gained several pounds in weight, my appetite has come back and my stomach is right again, and I never have that gas and sourness. The rheumatism pains that formerly worried me so bad have almost disappeared. I feel so much better in every way that I go about my work with renewed energy."

"This medicine has certainly done me a lot of good, and I am glad to recommend it to everybody, and I have told lots of my friends about it."

Dreco, the herbal system remedy, is sold and recommended by all the O'Donnell drug stores, by Allen's drug store in Alexandria and Burys' drug store in Anacostia.—Adv.

SAY WITNESS FLIRTED WITH JUROR AT TRIAL

Caveators in Will Case Ask Court to Grant New Hearing.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, Oct. 1.—A flirtation that is alleged to have taken place between one of the jurors and a pretty female witness during the recent trial to break the will of Mrs. Ellenora Shelly is the basis of arguments of counsel for the caveators, who today petitioned Judge Stump in the Court of Common Pleas for a new trial of the case.

According to the affidavits and the statements of witnesses, Juror No. 7, whose name was given as Francis E. Harrison, smiled, winked his eyes and nodded in a friendly manner toward Mrs. Elizabeth Armiger Shelly, a tall, handsome blonde of the statuette type, throughout the proceedings.

The jury sustained the will and Attorney J. Cookman Boyd, representing Mrs. Florence McCubbin and Vivian L. Dart, who are seeking to set aside the instrument, is using this fact as one of his strongest arguments for a retrial.

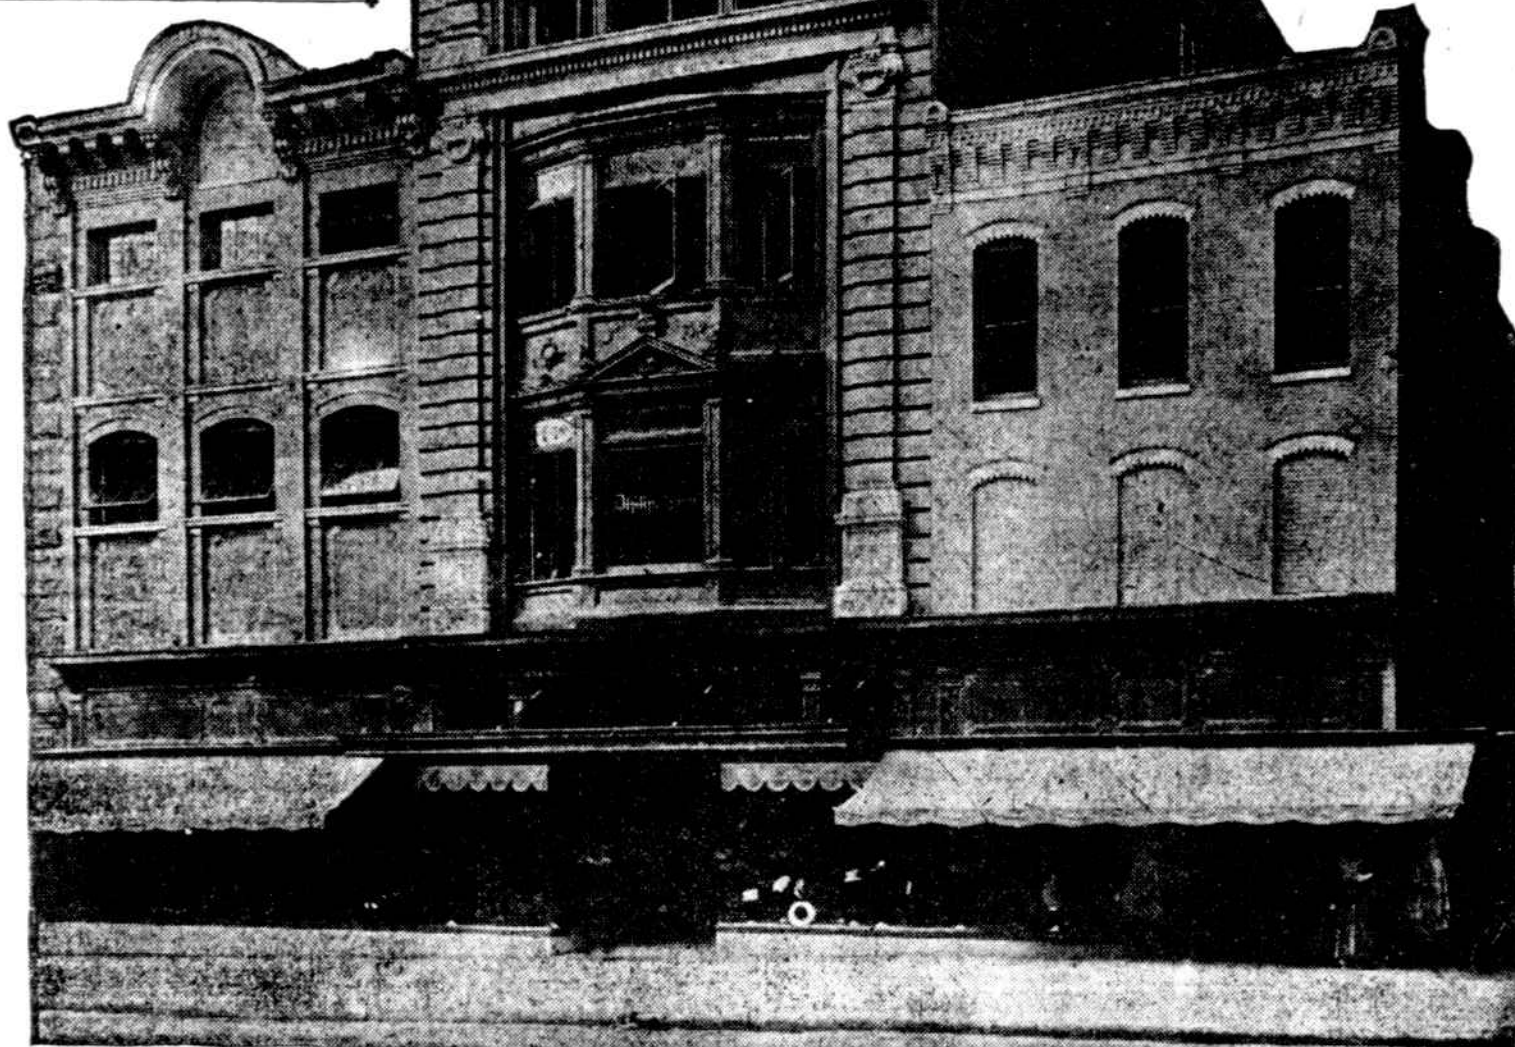

Robert C. Rhodes declared that he attended the trial and not only saw Juror No. 7 smile and nod at the pretty defendant, but also noticed that she smiled in the direction of the jury box and also nodded. He could not remember whether or not she winked her eye, he said.

Enlarged Home of Philipsborn Holds Fall Opening

This is opening week at the greatly enlarged establishment of Philipsborn, 604 to 618 Eleventh street northwest. By annexing the structure that formerly housed the store of Hibbert, their well-known women's outer garment shop has not only greatly enlarged its quarters, but added to the attractive appearance, as well as increased utility.

The Philipsborn store is the authorized Washington agents for "Golfex" Sport Apparel—also "Hickson" reproductions of Tailored Suits, each garment bearing a label guaranteeing its genuineness.

Complete stocks of both of these well known makes are on display, together with the store's own creations in Millinery, Suits, Dresses, Coats, Wraps and Furs.

ZOO WINTER QUARTERS PLACED IN READINESS

Menu of Jungle Beasts Not Changed
With Seasons.

Everything is in readiness at the Zoo for the chill blasts of King Winter.

While some animals are popularly supposed to hibernate when winter comes, setting their alarm clocks for the following spring, they abandon that habit in captivity. They are glad to get their meals regularly every day, winter and summer.

The Zoo menu does not change with the seasons. Lions, tigers, leopards and other jungle beasts, with the exception of about twenty-five monkeys, are all placed within the buildings for the cold months. The monkeys have been left outdoors for a few winters past and seemed to enjoy the snow.

All birds, with the exception of the macaws, cockatoos and a few types of heron, also are taken indoors. The macaws and cockatoos are from the tropics, but suffer no hardship from winter weather.

None of the seasonal changes have yet been made, but everything is in readiness and as soon as the weather becomes wintry the outside quarters of those animals and birds which are averse to winter winds, will be vacated.

The bears enjoy the winter more than they do the summer. The pools in their dens are kept full of water all day. It is drawn off at night to prevent freezing. The bears, by frequent cold plunges, keep it from freezing during the day.

VOTERS' REGISTRATION
URGED BY REPUBLICANS

Information About Excursion Rates
Supplied by League.

Data on registration days and excursion rates for voters has been compiled by the League of Republican Clubs and is available at its headquarters, 1468 H street northwest. Special effort will be directed this week toward seeing that District residents who vote in other divisions are properly registered.

Prominent speakers will address the Hughes Club at its weekly meeting Friday night in its headquarters at Fifteenth and H streets. This organization is receiving a large number of applications from District residents who desire to join the party being formed to attend the meeting, October 11, in Baltimore, which will be addressed by Charles Evans Hughes. The club members and others will make the trip by auto. A mass meeting is being arranged by the club for the week following the Baltimore event. A rally in Convention Hall, October 10, is planned by the Wilson and Marshall Association.

Not fewer than 20,000 children out of a total of 48,000 on the school rolls of Newcastle, England, are attending school half time only, being either directly or indirectly engaged in war work.

SALT FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs
Kidneys, Then Back Hurts and Bladder Bothers You.

Most folks forget the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clog and need a flushing occasionally. If we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.
